

THE GAZETTE.

FRIDAY MAY 6
The total cost of the employes of the late session of the legislature, was $43-168.33.

This is the progression of a bar of iron: It is worth $5. When worked in horse-shoes, it is said to be worth $10.00; made into needles it is worth $555; made into penknife blades it is worth $3,235; made into balance springs of watches, it is worth $250,000.

It will be a chilly day for the eastern marump papers when Blaine tells his republican friends that he won't accept a nomination or the convention nominates some other man. But probably they will find some one else to grumble at, as their chief aim in life is to grumble.

Mayor Roche, of Chicago, is doing a splendid work in clearing the dikes and gambling dens of that city. Carter Harris was in sympathy with those places, and kept them open. Mayor Roche has some regard for public morals, and will close them.

At the Omaha charter election the fight was made for law and order against saloons and gamblers, and the entire republican ticket, except five out of eight, was successful. This is another of the many instances to show that the republican party is on the side of law and order and temperance.

The Cornellsville coke workers to the number of 13,000 are on a strike, and have allowed $50,000 to $75,000 worth of coke burn up in the ovens. After being idle for a month or two and losing thousands of dollars of good money, the probabilities are that they will want to go to work again.

Simon Cameron says that he feels that the republican prospects for 1888 are very bright, and that the republicans will be returned to power, unless they shall make political blunders. It was not necessary for Mr. Cameron to add the last clause of the foregoing opinion. The republican party is going in to win next year—not to blunder.

The grand lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen for Wisconsin, in session at Milwaukee, rejected without discussion an amendment to the constitution refusing to admit saloonkeepers to the order. The order paid fifty-seven death losses amounting to $114,000 last year, and has $2,000 in the beneficiary fund.

The special attention of the mungwumps who are praising Mr. Cleveland for the very beautiful manner in which he is carrying out civil service reform, is called to the following from the Utica (N. Y.) Observer, democrat: "We believe it is generally agreed in Rochester that Mr. Hunt has been a capable and conscientious official, but he labors under the misfortune of being a republican, and for that he has got to go." Of course that has been the case in a very large majority of presidential postmasters. The republicans were kicked out because they were republicans, and not because they did not make capable officials.

It is estimated that all the fences in the United States amount to $1,747,549,981, or nearly equal to the interest bearing debt, and about the same as the estimated value of all the farm animals, so that for every dollar invested in live stock another dollar is required for constructing protection against their ravaging upon crops. The annual repairs, together with interest on the amount invested in the existing fences, amounted to nearly $300,000,000, and the amount of wood needed must have been not far from five billion feet. There is no telling what it costs annually to repair political fences, and no estimate can be made. But sometimes when a congressman's fences get down, it takes all his salary to repair them for another term.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker, the noted pulpit orator, of London, has received so many letters urging him against going to Brooklyn in June to conduct a memorial service in honor of the late Henry Ward Beecher, owing to fears that the heat may be excessive, that he has resolved to postpone his visit to that city until October. Another reason which influenced him in this decision was that, if he went to Brooklyn in June he would be idle in America nearly three months before he would begin his lecturing tour. So after all, it was a question of dollars and cents with Dr. Parker in regard to his coming to this country and delivering the funeral oration at the Beecher memorial services. He was offered his expenses and so on, but that wasn't enough. He wanted a well-filled purse.

It was stated in the Gazette the other day that Wichita, Kansas, had made propositions to nine different colleges to locate in that city, and it will get the majority of them. The town is booming, and a recent visitor says: "We are having a great time giving bouquets to colleges to locate there. Only just before I left they had located the Baptist college. The north end and the south end had been fighting for it for a long time. The south end finally won. They gave it 250 acres of land, and well, in all it amounted to $317,000. You see this college builds right in the center and then lays its grounds out in lots all around it and thus builds up a cluster, a town all about it. That's the way Wichita is building. Now, there are all in the suburbs, you might say, and between there and the town proper there are gaps which will all the reader fill up."

MURDER WILL OUT.
Fourteen years ago this coming June, a married man named Jean "Soquet," fell in love with the wife of one August Mainhart, at Green Bay. They became very intimate, and during that month Soquet's wife and Mainhart both died, and in a very short time after those deaths, Soquet and Mrs. Mainhart were married. The sudden death of the early marriage thereafter of the widower and widow, naturally aroused suspicion. Mrs. Mainhart was arrested on charge of the murder of her husband, but for want of evidence was acquitted.

Nearly fourteen years had passed when more evidence came to light touching the death of Mrs. Soquet and Mr. Mainhart. Soquet and his last wife did not live happily together, and lately the wife sued for a divorce. Had the divorce been granted, the wife would have been a competent witness against her husband, and no doubt she would have been an important witness in the trial, for it is evident she knew all about the murder of her former husband and Mrs. Soquet. But the second Mrs. Soquet suddenly disappeared, before the divorce could be granted, and the supposition is that Soquet had made way with her.

The trial of Soquet for the murder of his first wife, consumed fourteen days. The evidence, of a curse, was largely circumstantial. But the jury, after three ballots, found him guilty of murder in the first degree. There was no doubt in the minds of the jury, or in the mind of any one else, in fact, that Soquet killed his first wife and Mainhart, and then made way with his second wife to prevent her from turning state's evidence.

ABOUT CAPITAL AND LABOR.

One of the complaints the labor organizations make is that capitalists are growing richer while laborers are growing poorer; in other words, the manufacturers are growing rich off the labor of working men because of the large profits on manufactured goods. Mr. Edward Atkinson, of Boston, who understands the condition of the working people of this country as well as any other writer on economic questions, some time ago set about testing the accuracy of the charge that capital gets the lion's share of the profits of manufacturing, and what he says is of some value and interest. Taking the manufacture of cotton goods, in which very large large amounts of capital are required, Mr. Atkinson has found by investigation that in a cotton mill requiring a capital of $1,000,000 and turning out $1,100,000 worth of goods a year the division is about as follows: The operatives receive $250,000 for their labor; the cost of raw material, supplies, freight, taxes, insurance, etc., is $750,000; and only $600,000 is left as the profit of the capitalist. That is to say, the operatives of the factory get nearly five times as much as the owners of it.

The statement of Mr. Atkinson is borne out by the testimony of Mr. E. P. Allis, of Milwaukee, who employs hundreds of mechanics in his shops of that city. During the past two or three years, on the capital invested he has barely made five per cent; and between fifty and seventy-five firms in New England have run their mills more to keep their help together and give them a living than for any profit there has been in manufacturing. The experience of Mr. Allis and the New England firms, is the experience of hundreds of firms in the west; and yet the cry is continually being made that manufacturers are thriving while laboring men are being robbed.

A POSITIVE PERIL.

On the question of unrestricted immigration, which causes social disorder and is becoming a positive peril, the Chicago Times says: "The presence among us of a large body of socialists, anarchists, lunatics, peddlers of crime, and other scoundrels from the old world is a danger that threatens the destruction of our national edifice by the erosion of its moral foundations. It is a danger that we have invited by our practice and failure to enforce the most potent, but stupid and short-sighted demagogues that ever been seen in the world. It certainly is high time to confront this danger and call a halt upon our national foolishness displayed in inviting into our house and taking to our tender political bosom the immoral, vicious, ignorant, and wicked human dregs of all the earth. Better, infinitely better, for America would it be to reverse the practice and apply the declaration that the foreign offshoots shall go."

The question of immigration will some day, and that day is not far off, become a more serious and perplexing question than that of the labor problem. The ranks of the socialists and the anarchists are being swelled in this country every year by the coming of the thousands of the poorer classes of Europeans, who in that country are nothing but social dregs or criminals. Last year there were nearly three quarters of a million foreigners dumped onto the shores of the United States. And still they come at the rate of 35,000 a month. Some of them are fit to come, but the majority of them are not social immigrants as the country needs, and very many of them are nothing less than the offshoots of the Old World. It is of this class that anarchists and socialists are made, and it is to this class that labor agitators appeal when they want crimes committed against society and against the laws of the land.

While people are becoming aroused to the importance of this matter, the sober question is, what shall be done? The question probably rests with congress, but it is quite certain that congress will do nothing, not because it cannot, but because it will not.

A SUBTERRANEAN HORROR.

THE MINE AT NANANIMO, B. C., FULL OF DEAD MEN.

All hope abandoned That Any of the 160 Will Be Found Alive—The Walling Bereaved Ones—A Frightful Possibility—Swelling Floods in the East—Main and New Brunswick Losing Heavily.

Victoria, B. C., May 6.—The colliery explosion at Nanaimo, B. C., is the theme upon every mind, being one of the most fatal affairs that has ever happened in Canada. It is now ascertained that 160 persons were entombed at the time of the disaster. Of this number ninety were white and the remainder Chinese. Over one-half of the dead, injured, and imprisoned miners have wives and families. The women on the Nanaimo and at Nanaimo, Thursday morning were heartbroken. Wives, mothers, sisters and daughters were running to and fro among the crowd, wailing and mourning for loss of husbands, fathers, brothers and friends. As body after body was taken to the surface in the cage a rush was made for the corpse. The air was rent with lamentations of the loved ones, many of whom refused to be comforted. It was a sight never to be forgotten. Victims, stretched and rough bodies were pressed into service to remove bodies to the dead house. Many of these were unrecognizable from the effects of the fire, and in some instances the bodies were so badly burned that the mine is intense. Business is practically suspended. The city is in profound sorrow. Nothing is talked of but the awful calamity which has befallen the city and the great number of men that have been entombed in the mine. The danger of the gas being driven into the fire and a second explosion is not past, and fears are entertained that the whole place may be blown up. The first explosion is supposed to have been caused by coal dust. A telegram received Thursday night says: "All hope of rescuing any one in the mines has been abandoned. All that men can do has been done to reach them. An idea of making a ditch to surface water, so as to attempt to put out the fire in No. 2 shaft by turning a stream of water into it, was abandoned, as it would only flood the mine, rendering it practically useless for a year, and would banish any hope of saving the lives of the imprisoned men."

The fire in the mines has considerably melted. A dense volume of steam arises from the air shaft, and until the fire is entirely subdued it will be impossible to enter the mine to look for the imprisoned workmen. It is not known whether they are living or dead. Several parties from Wellington have arrived. The sailors here are also helping the rescuers.

FLOODS WORKING GREAT HAVOC.

Immense Damage to Property in Maine and New Brunswick.

BANGOR, May 6.—The bridges over here are being slowly undermined by the water. Wednesday night the pressure at the dam broke the connecting rod of the main pumps in the water works, completely disabling them. A rotary pump, which is kept for emergencies, is being used, but only about one-eighth of the city's water supply is available. All the elevators which are run by water or steam have been shut down. Houses are starting from their foundations all along the river, and thousands of dollars worth of household property has been washed away, causing much suffering to families along the banks. Farmers will be three weeks behind with their crops. The new woolen mill dam and most of the great Campbell dam at Bangorville have been washed away, suspending all operations for a long time. At the Red Landing in this city some of the houses are flooded and the families have been transferred in boats to places of safety. Hundreds of dollars worth of logs are passing here uncontrolled. The wooden mills and other factories are threatened, and it is feared that they will be washed away. The mill at Hartland was destroyed, and it is feared that many other towns in this vicinity. At Bradley this week a town meeting was held, to which the voters went in boats.

Heavy Losses in New Brunswick.

St. John, N. B., May 6.—The floods in the St. John river continue to sweep on with resistless force. At St. John occupants of stores and dwellings in the submerged districts are moving their goods to a place of safety. Ten or more large saw-mills, employing several hundred men, have been invaded by the turbulent waters and have been obliged to be washed off. A great deal of cut lumber is being swept off the wharves at the mill, and millions of logs have been swept out to sea. The time taken in the neighborhood of St. John have been obliged to suspend operations, the water having forced its way into the kilns. Owners are now endeavoring to remove the lumber to a place of safety. Much of it will be lost.

On Tuesday night a huge mass of ice and earth was precipitated upon a train as it was passing under the mountain at Trois Pictoues and cars were crushed, causing the fireman killed and several persons seriously injured.

The Demand for Iron and Steel.
Pittsburgh, Pa., May 6.—The Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association says the demand for and the price of iron and steel have fallen off since Jan. 1. This is attributed to three causes: A slight excess of production, the disturbance caused by the interstate commerce law, and increased importation. The Bulletin, however, does not consider the outlook discouraging, and sees a tendency to self-correction of the overstrained, especially as railroad building is active, the interstate commerce question is sure to be settled, and the labor situation is improving.

Where Pickett's Division Charged.
Greensburg, Pa., May 6.—A committee representing Pickett's division, C. S. A., is here to confer with the Battlefield Memorial association regarding a monument on the site of Pickett's charge. The committee consists of Col. R. L. Murry, Capt. E. F. Revere, and Capt. W. J. Clifton. The Wisconsin and Maine commissioners left for their homes Thursday.

The Soo River Open.
CHEROKEE, Mich., May 6.—The Messing and Minnie, the first boats through the Soo river, arrived back Wednesday night and report the ice in the river disappearing rapidly. A big fleet has already passed through.

SYDNEY DILLON QUESTIONED.

He Crosses Re-its and Not Before the Pacific Railway Commission.

New York, May 6.—Sydney Dillon gave testimony before the Pacific railway commission Thursday in regard to the finances of the Union Pacific Railroad company, of which he was formerly president, and is still a leading stockholder. He grew restive under the searching questions of Commissioner Anderson in regard to the relations of the Union Pacific to its branch lines. In several instances he pleaded lack of memory in reference to entries on the company's books. Finally he asked permission to make a statement, which he was granted. He then made a speech, defending the policy of throwing out branch lines as feeders, and claiming that he originated it. He said that policy had caused an original outlay of $5,000,000, but had soon vindicated itself by making $3,000,000 a year to the advantage of the company. His successor had adopted the poor policy of putting off the $5,000,000 debt with the profits of the branch lines. Mr. Dillon would have devoted half those earnings to that purpose, and the other half to extending the branches. The Union Pacific would have been bankrupt but for the branch lines. The government had been along the feeders, and pocketed out of what it had furnished the company to do. He declared that the investigation was going to benefit the Union Pacific. Commissioner Anderson wanted Mr. Dillon to explain why it was that after the consolidation of the Union Pacific, Denver Pacific, and Kansas Pacific in 1878 the 35,830 shares of Denver Pacific held by Mr. Dillon as trustee, or their equivalent $2,985,000, did not appear on the Union Pacific ledger sheet. The witness could not explain, but became somewhat excited and said loudly: "No man connected with the Union Pacific ever received a dollar of that stock." He admitted that the consolidation added $5,000,000 to the value of the Denver Pacific securities within twenty-four hours.

The Commerce Commission at Memphis, Tenn., May 6.—The Interstate commerce commission concluded its hearings Thursday after hearing evidence from railroad men and others and granting the river men leave to present their case in writing. The opinion prevails that the testimony taken here has not impressed the commission adversely to section 4.

ST. JACOBS OIL
LUMBAGO—LAME BACK.

From a Lumbago sufferer, March, 1888.
I had a severe attack of lumbago, which rendered me unable to move. I tried all kinds of remedies, but nothing would do me any good. I then tried St. Jacobs Oil, and after using two bottles, I was completely cured. I have since used it for all my rheumatic troubles, and it has always given me relief. I can now move about as usual, and I am very much obliged to you for the oil.

Thirty-seven Million Dollars More in Exports Than Last Year—The India Export—Better Business with South America—Oriental Potentials Anxious to Make Our Acquaintance.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Bureau of statistics has just issued a statement of the foreign trade of the United States for the year 1887, in comparison with the corresponding portion of the year 1886. The statement shows that the total value of our exports for 1887 was $1,000,000,000, an increase of $25,000,000 over the exports of 1886. The exports of cotton, wheat, and other agricultural products were the principal items in our foreign trade.
